If your child brings over-the-counter medication, their cabin counselor will ask them to hand it over so that its administration can be recorded during the stay.

Frequently Asked Questions

How do you manage food allergies?

The Music Camp offers a nut- and peanut-free environment. For other food allergies or intolerances, please indicate them on the registration form. In cases of complex allergies, the Camp reserves the right to ask parents to provide prepared meals to ensure the child's well-being and safety. These will be kept in the cafeteria.

Do you manage the administration of prescribed medication?

Yes, the instructors do so as needed, or even the healthcare coordinator, depending on the situation. Parents must complete the health form when registering for the activity to ensure proper care. For more details, please consult the Medication Distribution and Administration Procedure.

How can I reserve my child's room so that he/she can be with his/her friends?

The camp assigns campers to cabins based on age and gender and tries to accommodate pairing requests indicated on the registration form. Room and bed selection is left to the campers' discretion on a first-come, first-served basis. Upon arrival, campers can reserve a room and bed by setting up their personal belongings.

What level of learning is required to participate in the camp?

We welcome young people of all levels. While it's preferable to have some prior knowledge of your instrument, we occasionally accept motivated beginners. Lessons are private, and the students are not in competition with each other.

For other questions, please consult the website or contact the secretariat.
